

REAL COUNTRY MUSIC

Not just rock n roll with a twang

The Eddie Joe Clark Band is a touring band headquartered in Phoenix, AZ. They have a hard driving sound best described as outlaw country with a deep respect for the roots of country music. Their music is currently in regular rotation on nearly 100 radio stations in several western states, and with downloads in the thousands from iTunes, Amazon, and other outlets, whether your event is a concert performance or a an all-night bash, this is an act you simply have to book for your establishment or event. This is a band of experienced professionals that know how to fire up the crowd and keep them going all night long.

The band's leader, Eddie Joe Clark, is an established country and bluegrass artist and prolific songwriter. Having written over 200 songs, his music has been performed by a number of recording artists including Canadian Country Music Hall of Famer Ray St. Germain, Steve Hill of The Nashville Palace, Mitch Snow, Bunnie Mills, and others. Eddie's remarkable voice and extraordinary instrumental skills have been featured with acts that have performed in over a dozen countries on six continents. A Navy veteran himself, Eddie Joe always welcomes the opportunity to perform in front of veterans' groups and active duty service personnel. Among other instruments, Eddie Joe plays guitar, pedal steel, Dobro, and harmonica.

Eddie's band is a group of virtuoso musicians comfortable playing many genres from jazz and blues to rock and country. Their over 150 combined years of experience includes touring nationally and internationally, performing in venues from night clubs to arenas, and performing live and in the studio with well-known artists. The band includes Danny Misch on bass, David Johnston on guitar, Allan Edmondson on keyboards, and Tony Moon on the drums.

If you appreciate real country music, you'll love The Eddie Joe Clark Band. They have a passion for performing and entertaining and an absolute commitment to making sure everyone in the room has as a great time and memorable experience.
